Y. M. C. A. The police have been informed by Mr

Elliott, of the Chinese Y M. C. A., that some time between 10 p.m. on Saturday and '9 a m. on Sunday, some-one entered the committee room at the premises and stole from a safe, by means of a duplicate key, which was broken in the lock, a sum of $237, as well as a silk long coat valued

AUTOMOBILES FOR ARMY SERVICE.

The German Etat-Major has recently taken a decision with regard to heavy automobile cars for u e in the army which will be of considerable importance. After conridering the problem presented by the adoption of automobile cars for the army service, the Minister of War is of the opinion that it can be solved best in the following way:" It is not considered advisable to have the War Department enter Into the establishing of a large headquarters containing the gr at number of cars which will be needed for the service, owing to the great outlay which this would require for the surchase and the maintenance of the cars. One leading point is that such cars would s on become out of date, owing to the continual advance which the industry is making, so that this makes it a disadvantage for the government to purchase "a large number of the present types of cars. "It is considered that the best method is to favour the development of the heavy car in Germany so that the army will profit by the same. This it has been decided to carry out by means of awarding subsidies to automobile constructors or owners. For the first period, including the year 1908, there has been devoted the sum of $400,000 for this purpose, and it will be divided among the possessors of heavy cars of home construction which can be used for the army service, upon condition that they are to be held at the disposition of the War Department in case of mobilization. The cars are required to be kept in running condition for a period of five years. As regards the subsidies " which are to be allowed for this purpose, they are divided into three clauses of premiums. An initial sum of $2,000 is paid for each car, next a premium for mainten-" MAN COLTAGE, PEAR ROAD, will be resnoe for each car of $500 annually, and lastly a premium for various material, especially combustible, designed to favour home production of such, the sum to be fixed by the department. The above figures apply to 30-hone-power cars, and for the larger siz a the amounts can be in-

THE OVERSEAS LEAGUE.

The second annual report of the Oversons teague, which was founded in 1907. to promote British trade and to voice ; and endeavour to rectify legitimate grievances of British subjects Oversens, bas been published. The secretary of the Lengue (Mr A. G. Wise) says amongst other things, that the league has been successful in obtaining entire restitution of the property of a poor Englishman who had been robbed of all his savings in Germany. In Nicaragua the services of the League have been sought in obtaining payment of a claim for property wron fully confiscated by the Nicaraguan Government two years ago. The Rritish subject in question. writes to Mr Wise to the effect that he anticipates a settlement of his claim very shortly, thanks to the intervention of the Oversess League.

MAP OF VICTORIA PEAK

With Plin of city from Pokinlum Road to Wanchal Road ; Copyright by K. A. Massey.

So rune the title of what has long been needed by residents and visitors alike map of higher and lower levels combineda map by which a stranger may see at a glanco where he needs to go and how to be there; from Blake Pier to the Ing Staff, from East to West and from North to South. With this map before one, the intricacion of the Hill District cease to puzzle, the roads all being located in a table attached to the map. I such a map be of use to visitors it will be of no less a real help to residents in the

The only maps that have so far been available have been those on the "R.B.L." and "G.L." plan. most necessary and useful from a surveyor's point of view; but hopelessly distracting to a more layman. Of course it is interesting to know that so-and-so's house stands on R.B.L. (Rural Building Lot No. 100, but it is of far more use to know that it is called "The Crow's Tyt. Addresses for above: 'IWASAKI.' Nest," is numbered 133, The Po-k, and may be reached from Barker Road; Barker Road in its turn being locate as running from Plantation Read Station o Ma, anine Gap; thus simplifying the whole thing so that a momentary glance at the map shows one exactly where to go.

It may seem rather an extraordinary fact, but it is none the less true, that a woman should be the first to attempt the work in question. We do not by any means wish to disparage the efforts of the wonker son; have they not been recognized in all directions? On the contrary, we wish to give it as our humble opinion that effort, whether on the part of B man or woman, is laudable if only it be directed to some useful end. Of course the movement of the thousands of suffragettes, now agitating the Homeland may lead to some good result, still it seems to us that by honest work, quietly and persever ngly continued, one woman car do more to help her fellow-men and women then myriads of her emancipated sisters by much clamour and beating of drums (maskes the use of the dog-whip.) The new map of the Peak has a list of made. and houses stranged in alphabetical order as well as a smaller scale, map of the Island of Hongkong, giving channels and dist noss in mautical miles. The price is moderate; $1.00 in sheet form, $2.00 in nest cloth-bound case with pocket to contain, map and any notes orc., as well as list of streets and roads (City, Peak and Kowloon) in English and Chinese wit their Chinese pronunciation and their location as to other roads and streets. at No. 5, Queen's Road Central the Capies in either form may be had at our Registered Office of the Comp my, for the office, 5, windham St cet, or at the fol- purpo-e of receiving a St dement of Aclowing houses; Kelly and Walsh, Ltd., W

Dirigibles. It is understood that, in connection with the promise of the War Office to set ap rt

a small area of their land on Salisbury Plain as an experimental ground for military airships, the neighbourhood Ameabury, near to Stonehenge, has been selected. Buildings are to be erected repairing shope, and for storing aeroplanes and dirigibles. The locality in which the experiments will be carried out is not likely to interfere with the training of troops. The War Office have asked the Aero Club to attend a conference at the War Office with regard to facilities to be given for experiments on the War Department ground.

Roplying in Parliament to a question by Mr Fell as to the dirigible balloons which have been acquired by, or are being built for, the German Government, and the garages, and stations being prepared to shelter them. Mr Haldane has given the following reply : - Six balloons are reported to have, been built and six more to be building. The garages and stations for dirigible balloons are reported to be as under:-

TO ACQUIRE GOOD MANNERS

THE late Lord GWYDYR, who lived in the reigns of five British Sovereigns, saw the coronation of three of them, and the Medical Profession nearly reached his hundreth year, had in three strongths, containing 5% : 10% and very little use for the men and women of the present generation. What he chiefly lamented was the decay of good manners among them; indeed, he was wont to declare that such a thing as good manners had ceased to exist in Furkish Bath Salt English Society. The testimony of the venerable nonsgenarian is borne out by Softens the water, and imparts a delightmore than one observer in these latter days, and there seems little doubt that the calm demeanour and charmcourtesy which once marked the caste of Vere de Vere has passed away and instead to be impudent naturally is at present the best passport into high society. But if aristocratic circles have broken with the old traditions and have become rude, vulgar, and noisy it is not with that great section of the nation. which is designated the middle class. Here we find more than mere traces of the fine manners of the early Victorian times: in fact, the fetish of correct deportment and nicely adjusted behaviour is the principal god in the Pantheon of Suburbia if we are to believe the latest travellers who have explored those interesting regions. And it is all based upon a fine, old, crusted tradition. At least, that is the theory of a correspondent of the Westminster Gazette who has had the good fortune

Professor of Dancing, Fencing, etc.

under the title of "Instructions in book are to be found, he says, the basic shall not do the justice to my teacher he so much merits. principles which now govern the Let us move a step backward-from etiquette of the English middle classes.

The Instructions, we are told, were written for the following reneous "A strict observance of etiquette Ready made day and evening accompanied by the case and graceful ness of good breeding, is essential to the Hats and Toques, Laces, behaviour of a perfect gentleman. "In his manners there will be ease without Trimmings, Undercloth carelessness, grace devoid of affectation, Boots and Shoes, and modesty never sinking into bashfulness." He will be gentle without servility, and will possess dignity with haughtiness. His modes expression will be elegant but not pedantic, and he will have a proper knowledge of the world, without ever descending to craft or cunning."

Starting with such a presumption Froe delivery to all addresses accessible by means ger, including all Peak, Kowlean of deportment at public devotions. We quote in full:-

Question: "How ought I to sit and demenn myself in a place of worship?" Answer: "Sit perfectly square and upright; look not to the right or the left but attend only to the service or you book; nothing can be more unbecoming in anyone, but more particularly in ladies and gentlemen, who, from their education and situation in life, ought to set a better example to those of inferior rank, than folling, sleeping, talking, or indulging in any similar improprieties. Let nothing draw your attention from the solemn occupation in which you are engaged.

"For ladies, when attending Divine Service, I approve of those large poke bonnets, inasmuch he they conceal the face, and by confining the view prevent that distraction of mind which is so unfavourable to the proper performance of religious duties.

Question: "Is it proper to greet an intimate friend whom I meet at the door of a place of worship?" 'Answer: "Although it is certain! improper to greet a person in the church, yet at the door it may be allowable, but not with vivacity."

This brings one, naturally enough, to the bishop. What is essentially the correct manner newadays of greeting a bishop? Assuming that you must be gentle without meanness, civil without servility, dignified but not haughtytaking all that, and more, for granted -what then?

Question: "What movement should be made by a lady who meets a person to whom great respect is due, as, for instance, a bishop? Answer: "If she has only to make Goods per St. Patrick undelivered after him a passing salute, it must be by an this date subject to rent elegant bend of the body, rather low. and with a serious countenance: and in order to render her respect more obvicus, she may, if intimate, kiss her hand at the same time." The Professor adds that a gentleman, in similar circumstances, "should take off his hat and bow slightly, but respectfully." Next the Professor instructs us as to the proper behaviour to be observed when walking in the garden of a mera sequaintance. Would it be improper, you are supposed to ask, to help oneself to fruit without being first invited to do so? Most ... decidedly. according to the Professor, "I should consider it at all times uncourteous and improper, as our not being invited affords a presumption that it will not be agreeable; for, although a thing of little consequence in itself, yet to some persons who are very particular in everything relating to their fruit is would afford much annoyance; i however, you are desirous to gratify your palate, and feel assured that your not being invited arises from inadvertence on the part of your acquaintance. it will be proper to ask permission. When you have permission to help yourself, do not pluck the choicest fruit as to do so would have the appearance of selfishness, and will seldom fail to give offence."

How truly admirable, but it is nothing compared with the remarks he delicate subject, and/one that is alway cropping up, even in these days of pianolas and gramophones.

the drawing room to the dining room. "If at dinner or supper I am asked what part of a bird or joint I prefer, is polite to make choice of any part which is esteemed a delicacy?" There uncertainty here; a question of morals is at stake. "Young persons," the Professor replies, " when such a question is put to them, are in general, from bashfulness or timidity, too apt to use that very common but improper phrase 'Any part will do, sir,' or 'I have no choice, madam,' when in fact they have preference. To reply in that manner places the person to whom they speak an unpleasant situation, and makes him feel at a loss what to send, and is consequently the cause of much delay. must remark, also, that from false opening directions deal with the matter delicacy; or the ridiculous fear of being thought an epicure, you violate truth, imagine he will make the best of his op-

Wonderful indeed are these gems of wisdom and yet he would be greatly daring who shall say that these very principles so elegantly enunciated are not as active to-day as they were in 1828 in the manners which prevail in first annual conference in London on April Suburbia and the provincial towns England! REVIEW.

In and About Amoy, by the Rev. PHILIP WILSON PITCHER, M.A., The Methodist Publishing House, Shanghai. Price $2.50.

The Rev. P. W. Pitcher is an old resident of the Amoy district, as years are reckoned by foreigners in the far East, and from the abundance of his knowledge, observation and experience he has handled the facts upon which this book is builded with such consummate skill that we are the richer by a volume which should really make a wide appeal among reading circles in the homeland. The port of Amoy has a long history, first coming into notice during the Sung dynasty (1126-1278) as the haunt of poor fishermen and adventurers. By 1345 Impanese buccaneers had found it out and had pillaged and murdered the inhabitants several times before justice evertook them. WEE HALDANE

He stood at the top of the stair, leaned against the side of the door, and looked in. The car was almost full, and he could see no resting place. As through a funnel came the voice of the conductor standing, up there, please a friendly voice informed him that there "wis an empty sate furrit. He went trustfully forward, a decemb-looking, well-clad figure. No lover of strong waters; rather the kind of man that might take a glass "on occasion."

The car inrehed slightly, and our friend more so. To steady himself hig rested his hand somewhat heavily on the shoulder of the newer of two women who sat opposite "Some o' you men's rale clumsy - specially when ye've a dram ye'd be better without, said she, but with no anger. "True, mem. true, whit'ye say, but after a pause) we're o' some use." . "b. aye I'll admit that," said the comely one. "I've a man o' ma air abe hame." ... CHINESE PROGRESS IN MONGOLIA 🦠

The Tugeblatt fir Nord China Tpublishes interesting article on the growth of Chinese power in Mongolia. It says that Important Chinese colonial questions are being solved unostentatiously, and that Tibet, Mongolia and Manchuria are becoming more Chinese than ever they have been. As the means of strengthening her national position in the Dependencies, China is sending to those places enormous numbers of emigrants. To send coolies and peasants In as large numbers as i desires to these countries, thinly peopled by native tribes, costs the Peking Government only the small labour of edicts to the Governors of provinces suitable for such emigration, and small financial aid in special cases An army of about 40,000 men, drilled. by Japanese instructors, and armed with modern wespous, has been placed during the past two years in the region of Urumtchi, and the old frontier posts of Kuldin and Bulun-tochoi have been strongthened. In the so-called further Mongolia, to the north of the Gobi desort, the sudden activity of the Chineso Governors Kohdo and Uliasutai is filling the consuls charged with the maintenance of Russian interests. In: Urga and Uliasutai with anxiety Even: in these places, which are only reached after a tedious desert journey from ! - king. the military as well as the economic power of the Chinese is making slow but steady

Since 1907 in East Mon olia there have been camps of regular Chinese troops. The endeavours of China in Mongolia are are not only directed against the attempts of Russia to obtain f od in that country. , but also against the independent Mongolism princes. The interest of independence and the danger threatening them from Peking makes the Mongolian princes the natural allies of the Russians, who are more sympathetic-to-them-than the Chinese. The 'author asks of what avail is that against the irre-istible forward march of Chinese settlers and traders, with whom Russian traders cannot compete.

The overland trade of the tea caravana through the Gohi Desert via Kinkhta, which brought occupation to thousands of Mongols, and made the people dependent on Russian gold, has found other ways. Kiakhta is a town of the past, and a house of eight rooms can be obtained for twentyfive roubles a venr.

Instead of that, the Chinese are planning the first automobile communication through the Gobi Desert between Urya and Kal an, which will shortly be connected with Peking by rail.

SEVERE BRUISE

Instructor of Physical Development Could Not Work for Three Weeks -Many Remedies Failed to Cure Wound on His Leg-In Ten Days

CURED BY USE OF CUTICURA RESOLVENT

"I sustained a severe wound on the shin through my partner accidentally dropping a 150-lb. bar-bell on it while practising a weight-lifting (eat. The wound being badly bruised as well as cut caused me great trouble and annoy-ance, as, through not healing quickly, enough, it kept me from practising for about three weeks. After trying several well-known remedies which did not seem to do any good, as the wound kept reopening. I purchased a bottle of Cuticura Resolvent and a tablet of Cuticura Soap: After using others twice the wound began to heat up and it never opened again. In ten days I was completely cured. I find Cuticura Soap better than any I have ever used for shaving. I also keep it in my School of Physical Development for the use of pupils after exercising. I think everybody ought to know about Cuticura. Edward Roper, 2, Hague St., Newton Heath, Manchester, Mar. 25, 1907."
